

The Power of Effective Feedback in the Learning Environment for Instructional Leaders

“Feedback is the hinge that joins teaching and learning.”

Jane E. Pollock

Effective feedback is one of the five researched areas of Instructional Leadership that, if done successfully, can change the instructional culture of your building or district.

This workshop will provide participants with an overview of:

- The true definition of effective feedback (what it is and is not)
- The types and elements of effective feedback (large group, individual, affirmation)
- How appropriate questioning can enhance the feedback process (written or in person)
- How to write or say what is needed to make a positive impact on teaching and learning (scenarios)

Time will be given to provide any additional information that you may need to assist participants with this process. Come and join us for a day of learning with your colleagues.
