

Curriculum Design and Review

How do we determine what to include in our curriculum? What type of templates will work? How do we structure the review process for our curriculum? How do we get started in this process?

Effective instruction in the classroom starts with effective curriculum design. Join us as we discuss the steps involved in developing an effective curriculum. We will progress from choosing a template and producing shared definitions to the process for creating the units and finishing up with all the outside unit supporting documents. The process for curriculum review will be discussed and suggested steps outlined. We will also discuss the development of a local curriculum handbook.

Target Audience: Curriculum Directors, Administrators, or lead teachers assigned to the duty of overseeing curriculum writing.
